SUMMARY OF THE EXAM

A gallium scan is used to detect the presence of an abscess or infection, diagnose inflammatory conditions and detect cancer or the spread of cancer.

WHAT TO EXPECT

The examination will take place over a two – three-day period.

Day one:

- You will be given an injection of a radioactive tracer. Please plan to be in the department for approximately 30 minutes.

Day two/three:

- You will be asked to return in 24 – 48 hours for images to be obtained. Please plan to be in the department for approximately one hour.
- You may be asked to return in 72 hours for additional images to be obtained. Please plan to be in the department for approximately one hour.

INSTRUCTIONS

- Please bring a written order from your doctor to the exam.
- Please bring a complete list of all your medications.
- Please bring a driver's license or other photo ID.
- Please arrive 15 minutes prior to your scheduled time.

NOTE: This can involve the administration of radioactive materials. The scans are not routinely performed on women who are pregnant or breast feeding.

Blood work should always be drawn before X-rays are performed. If you are having blood work, please arrive early and inform the outpatient lab you have a radiology appointment. Please arrive on time for your radiology exam.

AFTER THE EXAM

You should expect to receive the results of your exam at your next health care provider appointment (if scheduled) or within 10 days of your exam. Please call your health care provider if you do not receive your results.
